

Multi-Sport Adventure on Santa Barbara's Gaviota Coast

The Gaviota coast offers an excellent opportunity for a wide range of outdoor education activities at a price that your school can afford. This multi-sport, hands-on learning trip is based out of the rustic and secluded El Capitan Canyon and will include different options of curriculum, such as natural history, biology, marine ecology, oceanography, and teambuilding.

Multiday Outdoor Classroom Cabin Overnight Program

Students and faculty meet their guides at the cabins to move in and enjoy dinner with an evening campfire. All meals are provided and the cabins have full amenities. The days are filled with activities such as:

- High Ropes course
- Beach Olympics
- Natural History Hike
- Biking
- Kayaking
- Rock Climbing
- Surfing
- Stand Up Paddling
- Service Learning
- and more!

Students will focus on bonding, working together as a team, and getting comfortable in the outdoors, all while learning about their natural environment through hands-on experiential learning. Team building elements can be incorporated into all activities, as desired. Night time adaptation hikes, skits and music at campfire will allow them to experience the outdoors at night as well. The focus of the program will be on having fun while learning skills to enjoy these challenging but safe activities, both individually and as a group.

Level of Difficulty: Easy to moderate.

Cost: Starting at $150.00 per person per day.
